The ideal candidate will be committed to creating a nurturing classroom environment that supports and advances all students as they grow academically and, in their faith, as unique children of God.

Qualified candidates must bring patience, compassion, and energy to their classroom daily while working in a self-contained classroom environment. Candidates will be responsible for teaching and planning all subjects using the OWL and Building Blocks curricula. Planning daily instruction to meet the learning styles and needs of all children is expected – with learning being centered around a play-based model.

Ensuring children are safely engaged in all learning activities throughout the day is a must. Additionally, the classroom space must be kept clean and orderly at all times to promote a safe and nurturing environment.

Strong technology skills are required to support learning across all disciplines. Candidates must be EEC certified, or working towards certification, and be committed to participating in all required professional development.
